In his letter published in our Saturday's issue Mr. J. J. FRANCIS, Q.C., says that the object had in view by those who suggested the holding of a meeting on the Volunteer. houses and the banks and the employers of labour generally were in favour of the movement and of its further extension, and were their employees to attend drills and parades and by using their influence with their young men to induce them to join. Mr. Francis Valley this afternoon commencing at 450, the says they would have preferred a special Club # The Sergeants of the 53rd Shropshire meeting of these classes of the community to Light Infantry. The following will represent a general meeting. The learned gentleman mentions this "for the information of the E. Cooper, P. Molesworth, Rev. R. F. Cobbold, community generally." In the Government advertisement calling the meeting, bowever; it is stated that "all who take an interest in the Volunteer movement are cordially in vited to attend." The persons most inwe should think, are those who may be thinking of joining the proposed new Corps. But while these are included in the invitation issued by the Government they are in effect informed by Mr. Francis, who writes semi-officially as tee that their attendance is not desired. These islands, according to Dr. Paton, form at present the great slave mart of the world. Natives exchange their boys and girls for firearms or liquor offered by traders, who carry away the children and dispose of many of them to Queensland sugar planters, while others are taken to New Culedonia or made to work in the pearl-shell fisheries in Torres Straits. It was due to Dr. Paton that in 1885 a royal commission was appointed which haid before the world the record of kidnapping and marder growing out of this barter. Queensland, however, demanded cheap Kanaka labour; and stringent regalations were made by the British Government which for a time seemed to correct the abuses until the trade became a genuine labour traffic. This traffic was abolished in 1990, but owing to the difficulty in progneing cheap labour for the Queensland plantations the British Government has decided recently to reopen it, and to this Dr.

Paton objects. He said to-day: "The slave trade is going on in the New Hebrides just as openly as some ply of vedka when one lot gave out. In softly to himself, anted and dropped dead.
